Mercy in Misery

By Frank Fournier, EVI President

Sandy Hook Elementary—twenty little children look past the barrel of an assault rifle into the eyes of a cold-blooded animal...then die. The community is stunned. The nation gasps in uniform disbelief, and the children's parents...who can describe what they experience?

In Boston, one hundred and eighty runners and bystanders, innocent people, have their day and much in their lives blown away by a senseless act of random violence—hatred in the name of a cruel god; man's inhumanity toward man—incomprehensible insanity.

A day or two later, a fertilizer plant explodes in West, Texas, shattering relatively normal lives irreparably. Why? Who writes the scripts?

We can almost see demons parading as men, stalking the world, spreading horror through violence and mayhem. Would world governments stop the bloodletting if they could? I assume. So would our police departments and clergy, but they can't! Inevitably, terror will increase in intensity until security will be found for none, but those who know God. "Men's hearts failing them for fear," said Jesus, "and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth." Luke 21:26. According to that passage, a few, not many, will learn to "look up, [to] lift up their heads." Luke 21:28. They'll shift their focus from this vast lazar house of suffering to something infinitely more secure.

"Thou wilt keep them in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee; because they trust in thee." Isaiah 26:3.

True Christians, connected Christians, Christians who are totally dependent on God, do not see as men see. They live by faith and not by sight. They focus heavenward and not earthward. They recognize eternal realities where others see only the disintegration of society and a terrorizing future. In it all, Christians detect "gain in the loss of all things." They find, "mercy in misery." Looking unto Jesus they discern "privileges in all hardship, order in confusion, the success and wisdom of God in that which has seemed to be failure." Testimonies to the Church Vol. 7, 271:3. When they look above, behind and all around the carnage, they sense an all-seeing, all-knowing, all-powerful Creator...they are at peace.

When the hearts of the Godless fail them, know, that "nothing (not cold-blooded animals, nor demons disguised as men) shall by any means hurt you?" Luke 10:19 Know, that God surrounds His abiding disciples, and nothing gets to them but through Him. Whatever He allows, whatever the appearance, He is working all things together for their good because they are engraved on the palms of His hands. ■

Hitherto Hath the Lord Helped Us

By David and Virginia Cruz

David Cruz leading in opening service.

God works wonders and bestows many blessings in the remote Tarahumara mountains. On the other hand, the presence of the drug cartel continues to make our work difficult. Nevertheless, the preaching the gospel advances forward.

Today, by the grace of God, we've established nine churches in and around Creel. These have been productive years...

Thank you for your prayers and your financial support. Both make it possible for us to remain on the frontlines.

I arrived in Creel, Mexico, with my family, in February, 1990. At that time, no one in Creel had heard the Three Angels' Messages. It was not easy for us to leave family and friends, yes, even our work; but the Lord called us to go

“not knowing whither we went”. Today, by the grace of God, we've established nine churches in and around Creel. These have been productive years, yet there remains much territory to possess.

It rejoices our hearts to see the ways the Lord has worked to supply all of our needs over the years.

In Nakarare, we held worship services outdoors beneath the shade of pine trees, for four years. Today, by God's help, there is a beautiful church wherein we worship and glorify God. This church was dedicated on March 16th, 2013, by our local conference president, Luis Armando Garcia.

Also, during the same week, Pastor Marco Antonio Ortega held an evangelistic campaign there. This was a very special experience for him because it was the first time he preached to the indigenous people. Because there is no electricity in the mountains, the meetings began at 3 pm. Many people walked over an hour to attend the meetings and needed to return to their homes before dark. The Lord is working on the hearts of these people, and at the end of the campaign six more precious souls accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as their Saviour, and surrendered their lives through baptism. May the name of our God be blessed.

Once again thank you for making it possible to bring the Gospel to the Tarahumara Indians. With certainty we can say, "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." ■

INDIA, Stone Valley Foundation

The GOOD NEWS keeps GOING and GROWING

By Roger Stone

Ramesh, my Indian son and I, were driving to Barda Napoli. There, three years ago, a non-denominational church became a Seventh-day Adventist congregation. That was during the dry season and there wasn't any water to baptize the new believers. So the congregation prayed; and God sent a hurricane, out of season, to provide them with water.

While driving in India, I pray continually—this day was no exception. Besides the potholes, drop-offs, and narrow roads, we encounter large busses or trucks speeding around blind corners leaving no place to go. On this occasion, Ramesh was driving, and we were late. We had stopped by a church member's new business to cut the "grand opening" ribbon. Ramesh tried his best to make up the time, but it was difficult. Each time a big vehicle careened around a curve towards us, our hearts would jump into our throats. Every time, God prepared a place of safety for us.

We were on our way to hold a baptism.

Large baptism.

It was a glorious day. The congregation sang several hymns while waiting for the services to begin. As I began to speak, the Holy Spirit impressed me to speak about the law of God, its importance and the judgment to come. The members were not concerned with the time—they had a dual purpose in coming—to worship their Creator and to attend the baptism.

Even though it was a long way to the baptismal area it was worth the effort. There was great joy. As we started back to the church we met four others on their way to be baptized. We returned to the water, and they too, were baptized. God prospers His work around the globe. He gives His Spirit to His people. The Good News keeps going and growing. ■

Joy In the New Journey

By Shanniel Fisher

Some attempt to journey not knowing their final destination—like Abraham of old. Others, like the apostle Peter, know exactly what's at the end of the road. It will be very exciting...as long as the journey is with God.

Reflections:

In March 2013, the members of the Country Life board met on campus. We fellowshiped, made future plans, and gleaned much needed counsel and guidance. With the board, came twenty students and staff from two self-supporting academies to help remodel and repair our buildings, and to build more than thirty bunk beds.

Because of the interest shown in our project, our team is encouraged to move forward. It is sad that our three volunteers from Colombia are not able to join us at this time. Nevertheless, our blessings are greater than our disappointments. Our God is in control, and His timing is the best.

At the end of our One-Month L.I.G.H.T. School (Jan – March 2013), we rejoiced to see the power of God change lives. Luke 10:17. Many victories were gained. Some people lost weight, others adopted new lifestyles, illnesses were reversed, and many increased in their desire to do Medical Missonary work. During these schools almost two hundred students were trained. They presented health lectures and sermons in over twenty churches; and many of those same students are interested in taking the six-month course, beginning July 1, 2013.

Present Joy: Our team is now preparing for the Six-Month LIGHT School—only forty students can be accepted. Most applicants don't have the money to pay for their tuition and lodging. It costs $600 for the entire course. Our little school is not financially able to support them. Please pray that God will supply these financial needs.

electrical and plumbing repairs are almost finished, and the buildings are ready to be inhabited (with the exception of the men's dormitory, which still needs a new roof and other repairs.) We only lack $18,000 to finish repairing every building.

The gardens are now partially planted with sections of corn, vegetables, pumpkin, pigeon peas, cassava, 100 banana plants, 100 plantain plants and 20 Coconut trees. We are still raising money for a 4wd 70 HP tractor with a bucket; and agriculture and maintenance tools.

Mt. Akagi Mission Trip Report

By Don Johnson

Only four people decided to fly to Japan for a planned Mount Akagi mission trip. How disheartening, humanly speaking. Yet, God's hand is not shortened. After some time, two more couples and three young persons joined the team.

Likewise, at a Wednesday prayer meeting, a young man, hearing of the need, donated $20.00. It was a precious gesture. Believing God would multiply his offering, the group determined to do all they could with the few funds they had. Added to our small beginning was a small amount designated for Mount Akagi from Eden Valley and OCI, but still, it was not far from enough. But, as with the people, so the funds continued to grow.

As we ventured forth in faith, God moved the hearts of our team. One gave $1300, another $5000, and from America came another $5000 bringing the total to more than $15,000—over half the estimated cost of the project. Like the two fish and five loaves, Jesus multiplied the $20.00 gift to the amount we needed immediately, and provided just the number of people to do the job.

In six days:

- An upstairs balcony was restored.
- The decks around the east and south sides of the house were rebuilt.
- Seven rooms were completely painted.
- Much needed lighting was installed.
- Contacts were made to have the exterior walls re-stained.
- And we purchased new flooring.

While all this was going on, the group held health seminars in Maebashi, forty minutes away. Our doctor and another couple from Canada gave presentations every night to an audience of 15 to 20 people. Several in the audience held consultations with the doctor, Country Life brought a number of guests, and the local pastor and his wife enthusiastically supported the meetings.

Volunteers working hard rebuilding our decks.

In the meantime, an issue came to light that put fear in our hearts. As a non-profit organization, Mt. Akagi has not paid taxes since its establishment. This left the accountant concerned because Mt. Akagi is a foreign organization. Not every building is registered with the government, and the city could require the institution to pay current and back taxes. This would certainly sink us.

Fortunately, an architect friend of Mt. Akagi, who helped them financially in the beginning, went to work on our behalf with the government. Knowing a number of high Maebashi officials, he helped them to determine that Mt. Akagi is located in a non-taxable area and that the buildings didn't need to be registered at the time.

In Japan, few are ever converted to Christianity. Nevertheless, Marty and Mayumi Brown, the leaders of the project, continue faithfully to give Bible studies. Soon, one man, a precious soul, will be baptized—the true fruit of all these labors. ■

About Our Father's Business

By Janet Fournier

Things are different for me this year. Deniece Van Order got married and moved to Tennessee. I am happy for her, but I am left lonely. She was a great help to me and I miss her very much. It's much harder now to get myself into gear seeing I have no one to bounce my ideas off of.

We (the fundis and I) finally got my green house up. The ends are not covered and there are no doors, but that will be easy compared to setting up a forty-foot one-day structure. I also have a small, prefab starter greenhouse. It is suppose to be set up on level ground, on patio stones or on a footing, but I decided instead to cut down a few eucalyptus trees to make a skid and to secure the greenhouse to it; that way we can move it with the tractor where we need it.

A few Sabbaths ago, the SDA churches came together and had two weddings, four baby dedications and communion. Four of our girls graduated and 16 people were baptized. All of that came with a lot of food and music, (we happen to boast of a very good student choir this year).

America may be winning the race for the number of cancer victims it produces, but Africa is following behind. It may be at a slower pace, but following nonetheless. Last year, we helped a man with cancer on his feet and legs. He is still alive and doing okay, but he is not over it by any means. This year, we have a 26 year-old lady who keeps coming for food, bandages and painkillers. The best we can do is to give her extra strength Tyle-nol. We help her all we can, but she won't live long. She asked for a Bible and a song-book, and our Bible Worker visits her. The cancer took one of her eyes and she has a lump on the side of her face the size of an adult fist. It has grown much since I first met her. The smell of her cancer used to drive people away. At the clinic, they taught her how to drain her wound, and this has taken most of the odor away. I wish I could do more for her. I tried using charcoal and comfrey salve, but with little effect. Only a miracle from the Lord can help her now. She seems ready; at least she has accepted the inevitable.

It isn't that easy for me. Every time I am confronted with cancer, the struggle becomes mine. It breaks my heart in that I haven't the faith to move these mountains, not even the faith the size of a mustard seed. Perplexed and disturbed, it drives me to search the scriptures and plead with God. I know He is willing, but I am so lacking. Nevertheless, I am grateful to be able to do something.

Our carpentry students are producing beautiful furniture. We are excited and thinking of opening a shop to sell their goods. The girls are doing well. They love to sew all day long. The Lord has blessed us

I Can Move Again Without Suffering!

By Janina Podziemski

Had it not been for my poor health, I never would have participated in the Springs of Life's NEWSTART Program. For two years I suffered with rheumatoid arthritis. I felt a nagging pain in my knees, ankles and the joints of both hands. The disease developed when I suffered through a very stressful and difficult time. Predictably, the doctors recommended analgesics and steroid tablets, but I really did not want to use such drugs.

Fortunately, my sister who once suffered from rheumatoid arthritis advised me to stop eating meat and cheese. She also counseled me to take part in the NEWSTART program. "Because," she argued, "after four years of practicing the principles of a healthy lifestyle, I have completely recovered."

...after seeing the rules of healthy cooking in practice I am convinced...

After a time, I ventured to heed her advice, although I must admit, I followed through with a certain degree of skepticism. When I arrived at the Lifestyle Center, I was grieved to find my accommodations located on the second floor. Descending the stairs caused me much trouble and pain. In the hope of finding relief, I decided to go on a cleansing diet made up of vegetable and fruit juices. To my great surprise, I felt better with every passing day. After a week, my pain completely subsided. Stairs were no longer a problem. Frankly, I never expected the recovery to be so quick.

I have since maintained a strict vegan diet. That was a year ago, and again this year I returned to the program. I know that the NEWSTART program came to my notice when I needed it the most, it was absolutely the best help I could get. The changes that I made at the beginning were terribly difficult (especially withdrawing from dairy products), but after seeing the rules of healthy cooking in practice I am convinced that a plant based diet is very easy to use at home. God has given us such an abundance of vegetables, fruits, seeds and nuts. I thank Him every day for convincing me of the value of the NEWSTART program.

Thank you, Dr. Grazyna Kuczek, for providing valuable information on health and nutrition with such warmth and joy. Your medical lectures, given with Bible in hand, touched a very responsive cord in my heart. It's because of your example that I've been motivated to carry what I learned at the Lifestyle Center into my everyday experience. ■

Welcome

By Brent Waggoner

The word “welcome” embraces, and affirms—it warms the heart and gives rest to the fearful. I love the words from Acts of the Apostles p. 601. “By faith we may stand on the threshold of the eternal city, and hear the gracious welcome (feel the gracious embrace) given to those who in this life co-operate with Christ.” In health, as in the spiritual there is a co-operative relationship between Christ, who heals, and man, who permits Christ to apply His healing balm.

Many who are hurt can find healing and peace by learning to co-operate with Jesus. Often, people are too busy and stressed; the benefits of following the laws of health are overlooked. These laws are GOD’S ANSWER to our needs; they teach us to be filled with Gratitude and benevolence, to cherish Obedience, to find Divine help, to experience Self-control, and to use fresh Air, proper Nutrition, Sunshine, Water, Exercise, and Rest.

God’s laws imply that “His biddings are enablings.” In this, the Eden Valley Wellness Center Staff realize their purpose—to help restore your strength, your hope and your health.

Each month, you can choose to come for a ten or an eighteen-day program.

If you find your health challenged and you desire to feel younger, Eden Valley is the place for you. If you come, we promise to love you, pray for you, and by God’s grace start you on the road to recovery. WELCOME! ■

Beautiful Bountiful Harvest

By Laural Bates

In every direction you look at Eden Valley you will see fertility. Our farm is flourishing.

The vegetable gardens are begging to be harvested and we are more than delighted to oblige. The Farmers' Market season is in full swing. We pull away from each one having sold hundreds of dollars worth of greens—kale, lettuce, collards, Swiss chard, spinach, basil, cucumbers and broccoli. The Lord created such shades, textures, and colors that the vegetables sell themselves.

Every morning, before leaving for market, Ignacio, our farm manager, takes time to pray with his crew and to ask God to pour out His blessing on the market—and God does just that. Many customers remark at the quality and beauty of our produce. They return year after year to purchase their favorites, especially tomatoes, kale, and cucumbers. In the late winter and early spring, large herds of elk migrate through our farm. These herds of two or three hundred eat the bark off of our fruit trees, and trample and eat our raspberry bushes. We are so grateful that this year the county paid to fence around the perimeter of our raspberry patch and orchard. As a result of the fence and God's blessing, our bushes are full of berries. In the enclosed fields, the farm planted over forty pounds of garlic and at least three thousand ever-bearing strawberry plants. We anticipate a full harvest of raspberries and garlic, and are already selling strawberries.

Our hay fields lay dormant last year because we had no funds to purchase irrigation equipment. This year, Eden Valley purchased two used irrigation systems, and we re-seeded over forty acres with alfalfa hay. Due to the shortage, the hay is sold before it is even cut and baled.

Is agriculture important? Fundamentally so. "No one can succeed in agriculture or gardening without attention to the laws involved. The special needs of every variety of plant must be studied. Different varieties require different soil and cultivation, and compliance with the laws governing each is the condition of success. The attention required in transplanting, that not even a root fiber shall be crowded or misplaced, the care of the young plants, the pruning and watering, the shielding from frost at night and sun by day, keeping out weeds, disease, and insect pests, the training and arranging, not only teach important lessons concerning the development of character, but the work itself is a means of development. In cultivating carefulness, patience, attention to detail, obedience to law, it imparts a most essential training." Ed 111.3. ■

New Beginnings

All good things must come to an end—or so we are told. For THE WELL's eight students, graduation marked the end of the Evangelism Training Course offered at Eden Valley; but, it is also the beginning of a new life centered on leading men and women to Christ. The past six months changed our student's hearts and lives.

Let's hear their heartfelt testimonies:

"Several months ago, I was terrified at the thought of getting up in front of people, but all that is changed now. I've found something that must be shared, and that is that God never asks us to do anything that isn't for our best interest. Once we've truly grasped this, we will trust what God promises, what He commands and what He allows. That's the most important lesson I've learned from THE WELL—God is real, and He is trustworthy." - Ann

"Every class opened my heart to new knowledge and understanding. What I experienced at Eden Valley was deeply life changing. I have especially discovered better and more effective ways of relating to others. This will definitely enhance my professional services to others. Praise the Lord for this educational program!" - Sharon

"I found being a student at Eden Valley to be an opportunity to draw closer to Jesus and to learn what it means to follow God's law in the realm of education and health. As a result, I am better able to share what I learned and experienced with others. Eden Valley provided so much for my walk with God and for my desire to share. I can't say enough." - Chad

Students learning massage.

“I especially liked that THE WELL combined health with evangelism; our studies deepened our knowledge of the Bible, and now we better understand how to share our faith. We learned, not only by the study of books, but by doing, as well. We gave health talks in homes, we held Bible studies, we organized health events, and we taught the NEWSTART principles in the community.” - Eniko

“I can not find the words to express the joy I sense in my heart for being part of the wonderful institution of Eden Valley. To me, it feels like home. The staff is courteous, pleasant and friendly, and the love they have for Jesus is tangible.” - Gustavo

Time of rest. THE WELL Students and Daystar Academy students are enjoying an evening by the campfire.

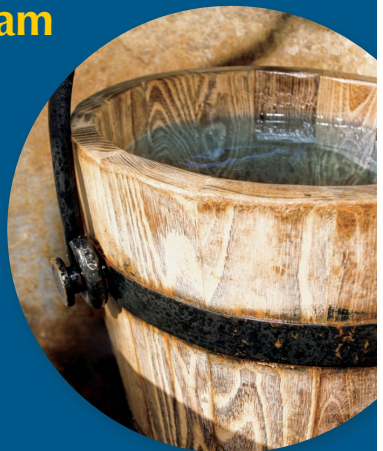

These sentiments confirm that the Lord is the One who established the education program at Eden Valley. God willing, this program will continue to equip God’s people for service. We have a 17 year-old student who was sick a lot. We sent him to the hospital where they diagnosed him with typhoid. He took all the meds the hospital prescribed, but it didn't help him. We sent him back to the hospital, and his test came back HIV positive. He was devastated. Now he is on pro-long-life medicine and doing well. We also have a young lady who is HIV positive. She tried taking sewing classes two years ago, but was too sick; she is also on medication and doing well this time.

Many, many thanks for your generous prayers and donations. Your generosity keeps these kids off the streets, lets them know who their Savior is, and help us be about our Father's business. ■
