THE WELL at Eden Valley

Our education program is up and running. The course begins January 6, 2013. It is a five month missionary training program designed to equip gospel workers with skills in personal, public, and health evangelism. The new name stands for Training Health Educators With Evangelism, Lifestyle, and Leadership.

You can contact the Education Department directly at 970-215-0223 or education@eden-valley.org

Special Temptation

By Frank Fournier, EVI President

“The day is coming, and it is close upon us, when every phase of character will be revealed by special temptation.” YI 1-16-96:3.

Is normal everyday sin not sufficiently enticing that God must order special inducements to test His people? Apparently not.

In Numbers 23, we find Israel camped on the border of the Promised Land. On the Canaanite side of that border is a Moabite king, terrified. He knows he's toast unless he can manage to foil the Israelite advance. To avert disaster, King Balak sends for Balaam, a pseudo prophet, with an odd reputation. “I know that he whom you bless is blessed,” said Balak, flattering the prophet, “and he whom you curse is cursed.” Numbers 22:6.

The power to curse or bless would certainly be an interesting tool, but for Balaam, cursing Israel at this time is inconceivable, and he knows it. He tries anyway and fails miserably. “Behold, I have received commandment to bless:” he tells the king, “and He has blessed; and I cannot reverse it.” Numbers 23:8. What's wrong, has he lost his touch? Actually, nothing is wrong; something is right: “God has not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither has He seen perverseness in Israel: the Lord his God is with him.” Numbers 23: 21.

Israel is a nation of one million, two maybe, and the whole body is pronounced righteous. Imagine that. They can't be cursed. They can't be impoverished, they can't be sickened, they can't be weakened, nor can they be stopped. They can't even be made to slow down, because they are judged upright. And they are upright through the atoning sacrifice of Jesus Christ. As far as known sin is concerned, they are clean. But now watch: They are on the verge of entering Canaan. This is an important fact. Canaan represents heaven, in type. What if there are unknown sins in the lives of those people? Are they allowed to enter Canaan land? No. “There shall in no wise enter into it (earthly or heavenly Canaan) any thing that defiles.” Revelation 21:27. So as not to soil heaven, in type, God must allow circumstances to reveal what is in their hearts that they may deal with it.

To affect this, the Spirit of God leaves Balaam to be controlled by a cultivated covetousness. And wouldn't you know it, Satan is right there with an inspiring suggestion. “You can't curse Israel,” whispers the enemy, “ah, but they could curse themselves, and here's how . . .” Greedy for gain and armed with a new thought, Balaam puts the plan into action. Before it's over, 24,000 people are dead.

What happened? Some special females with evil designs sauntered into camp, and “The people began to commit whoredom with them.” Numbers 25:1. The very ones who couldn't be cursed and might have defeated their enemies in battle were “overcome by the wiles of women.” Patriarch and Prophets 454:4

Couldn't God stop the women? Sure, but

God's Miracle for Poland

By Grażyna Kuczek

Last spring, Poland “New Start” still needed $35,000 to open its doors. They decided to move forward in faith. They made plans to hold five sessions at the new location just 35 kilometers from Warsaw in central Poland. By the end of June 2012, the new facility was ready to welcome its first guests. Would God come through? Would they receive the necessary money? God’s ways are mysterious; but He promises, “He will supply all your needs”. Oh, and the money—came just on time.

The following are short testimonies shared by some of our lifestyle guests:

I came to Newstart on the advice of a friend. My experience was beyond comprehension. It is located in the most beautiful place, the lectures were fantastic, and the meals delicious and healthy—truly it was a feast for the body and soul. I didn’t expect to get better so quickly by only changing my diet and increasing my ex-

I came to Osieczek wanting to pamper myself, get some much needed rest, and to restore my health. I found so much more. I felt like Alice in Wonderland. The beautiful manor house is an ideal restoration. I will never forget the people whose mission it is to make others healthy and happy. ~ Zofia

The Newstart Program in Osieczek was the answer to my needs. I'd been searching for the right path in the huge maze of health, and I still was uncertain which path I should take. Since attending the program, I have come far on a path that I believe will lead me to total health. I've stopped drinking coffee, accepted the benefits of exercise and fresh air, understand the need for a good night's sleep, and the importance of rest. I've also learned to cook healthy food that will not only benefit me but it will benefit my future family. ~ Mariola

The experience exceeded my highest expectations. I needed to make a change to my lifestyle and they taught me how. They encouraged and supported me. They inspired me. All my goals were met. The Newstart Program is well balanced between lectures, recreation, and relaxation. For many years, I was taking prescribed drugs. I was told by the doctors that I would need them for the rest of

Radio Broadcast in India

By Roger Stone

People in India are tuning into our TV broadcasts as Pastor Elisha Rao presents “The Book of Revelation”. As a result more than 350 pastors are taking Bible studies; and the interest is spreading among the Lombardi Gypsies. Initially, five young men received Bible studies and accepted the gospel truth. They are now working in 30 villages and have led twenty five Lombardi young men to train as SDA pastors. There is also a growing movement among Muslims, and many have called to express their awakening interest in Adventism. We continue to get phone calls from individuals watching the program on their computers in the USA and the Gulf countries.

Our newest orphanage has become a great blessing to many children from very remote villages. Several children, whose parents want their children to get a good education, have sent their children from these remote villages to board with our orphans. These villages are so remote that they have to walk many miles to catch a bus; and then, walk many more miles to the nearest school. Danger lurks as tigers walk down the streets at dusk and after dark.

The first orphanage is still growing and doing well! Growing from 35 children to 89 permanent residents. The Government of India tried to force us to close the school because the class rooms were getting too crowded. Praise the Lord, the Quiet Hour became interested and donated money to build 6 new classrooms, plus a science room and cafeteria.

Our orphanages are all in rented facilities. We would like to buy land and build new orphanages. We have some land and a partly finished building. We need $10,000 to finish this building for occupancy.

The following is a testimony by Ramesh Kumar.

I was born into a Baptist family. For 21 years, every Sunday I faithfully went to church. One day, I read a book entitled, “Who are the Seventh-day Adventists?”, written by Roger Stone. God opened my understanding and convicted me to keep the seventh-day Sabbath holy. One simple question kept haunting my mind—“Who do you want follow—God or man?”

I thought about the question and started reading the Bible more. Through more study and much time in prayer, I decided to follow God. I started keeping the Sabbath holy. My relationship with God grew. God blessed me. Today, I am a gospel singer, and enjoy writing both music and lyrics that bring glory to God. Why does God bestow His blessing on me?—only because He is good. When we choose to follow Him and keep His law holy, He rejoices and bestows greater blessings. ■

Preparations for Winter

By Marty Brown

With open arms, we welcome Takayuki Konno and his family to Mount Akagi. Returning after several years, he is a great blessing to us.

The winters in Japan can be quite severe; in the past several weeks, we were busy cutting and collecting firewood. The old wood stove needed to be repaired, and we didn't know how to repair it. All of the fire bricks were broken, the rails that hold the bricks were broken loose, some parts of the stove were warped due to excessive heat, and many of the welds were broken. Konno-san was able to weld the stove back together.

Repaired stove

The bakery roof made from concrete developed a leak along the joint. In one section, the leak is very persistent.

How did God fix this problem? He brought Konno-san back to us. For many years he worked for a company that waterproofs buildings. The material is very expensive, but his old company gave it to us for free. The primer and secondary coats were applied and the roof no longer leaks. The final layer will keep the ultraviolet rays from weakening the waterproofing material.

If possible, we would like to repair the flooring in the bakery office. He has given us evidence of His leading. He has always provided for us, and we know that we can trust Him still.

There are two industries that Mt Akagi would like to pursue to become fully self-supporting. The first, is to purchase a grain

New roof

“puffing” machine that would allow us to provide puffed rice, wheat, corn, barley or other grains that the people could use for nutritious meals, and to allow us to develop other new bakery products.

The second is to build an American-style greenhouse with larger pipes for the frame and a stronger plastic covering. We want to start an agriculture program, because we are told that it is the ABC's of Christian education. Our growing season is 4 to 6 weeks shorter than at the foot of the mountain, and a greenhouse would extend our growing season. If we can do something a little different, perhaps we can generate some interest and attract people to come to Mt Akagi. The materials for a typical Japanese-style greenhouse are available, but they would not stand up against the strong winds at Mt Akagi.

We solicit your prayers and support. Winter is settling over the whole earth. Will Japan be ready for the pending crisis? ■

2012 Tanzania Group

Eden Valley Foster Care Mission (EVFM) continues to find its source of power in God; but only recently, it was connected to the Tanzanian electrical power grid. With the nearest public power resource over 25 miles away, Janet Fournier, the mission Director, has been looking for a method to power the campus with electricity. Over the past few years, she has been working with Jay Andres, a professional hydro-electrical engineer from Chattanooga, Tennessee, and her avid supporters to raise the required funds for the project; and design a hydro power plant that could harness the power of the small river that runs next to the campus.

In early August, after six months of detailed planning and preparation, EVFM began to get the campus ready for the electrical power plant that would be installed in early October. The local team worked long days to dig the necessary trenches and clear them of rocks and boulders; these ditches would house the cables and water pipes

Jay and seven members of the East Ridge SDA Church were making plans to come onsite to help build the hydro plant, a small weir (a barrier across a small river to act as a dam), powerhouse, and a battery room to help store and distribute the power to the entire campus. After traveling over 24 hours, they arrived in Dar Es Salaam on October 7. They would continue driving another 13 hours before they would arrive safely at EVFM.

The next morning, they started to work in earnest. Every morning began with a time of prayer and praise. It was the key to the success of the project. During this time, the team shared ways God had provided wisdom and insight to meet the daily challenges and obstacles that came their way. He reminded them that this was His mission and that they needed His help. True to His word, God continually provided help in their time of need.

Over a mile of cable was placed across the campus. God surprised the group by providing a large cable to cover only the first 400

From the mountains of the Tarahumara, I see the Lord working in the hearts of the indigent people. Many have surrendered their lives to Him. The following testimony is what God can do in the life of just one individual—just think what He can do for you?

Gabriel Cabo had a serious illness—alcoholism. He drank everyday for eighteen months without stopping. Eventually, he came to the place that he worked only to get money to buy more alcohol.

In his desperation, he sent Lupita to my house to ask me to come and pray for him.

One day his sister told him that someone was offering work herding cows at a nearby ranch. He applied for the job and was hired. After the first week, he became desperate. In the country, there wasn't any place to buy alcohol; so he decided to return to his home in Nacarare. When he returned, he felt like a walking dead man. His body would tremble uncontrollably. There, in the mountains, he walked out among the pine trees and felt the strong desire to kneel down and plead with God to help him overcome this terrible vice.

On June 23 Gabriel and Lupita were baptized.

me to come and pray for him. The following week, we went to visit him; and it was then that we celebrated our very first worship service in Gabriel and Lupita's house. The Word of God began to penetrate his heart, his life started to change and he gave up drinking.

Now, he had another decision to make. You see, he was not married. He lived with two women that were sisters, and he would have to make a choice between them. He also learned that he would need to get married so his life would be pleasing to the Lord.

Then on June 23, he - along with his wife Lupita - were baptized

Gabriel has the desire for others in his indigent tribe to know the love of God. He donated a parcel of land to have a church built where many will come to know the same God that changed his life. Please keep this project in your prayers.

During this year, we were blessed to see thirty-five souls baptized. May the Holy Spirit motivate us to sow the precious seeds of the Gospel. ■

God's Plan for the Dominican

By Fred Flint

We are pleased to report the exciting changes being made in the Dominican Republic. Our God is a prayer answering God. Your support has not gone unnoticed. Thank you for holding this mission dear to your heart. God has put a team together to strengthen the areas that are in disrepair.

We are partnering with LIGHT, and others, to develop a health educational program in the Dominican Republic. This fall, the Dominican Conference, LIGHT, and our team will unite to strengthen the work in the Dominican. The plan is to hold three one-month training programs in the area of Santo Domingo. These programs will be organized by the conference and will run between January and May. In May, a six-month advanced medical missionary program will be established at the school located near Bayaguana.

God has brought a multi-cultural team unto Himself that is well-trained, mature, consecrated individuals from Germany, Holland, the US, Jamaica, the Dominican Republic, and Columbia. The initial goal is to repair the buildings at the school to provide the needed housing for the students attending the training program in May. An important part of the LIGHT program is to give students an opportunity to learn manual trades. This provides a way to later operate a self-supporting ministry.

Our focus is to develop a vibrant agricultural program. Working together, the staff and students will maintain forty acres of workable farmland—growing as much organic food as possible. The crops will feed the staff and students and be sold commercially throughout the Dominican Republic. Country Life has the needed legal requirements for food production and distribution.

The needs are giants in the land; but like Joshua and Caleb, we are moving forward trusting in the deliverance of our God. We lack about $20,000 for the re-construction of the school. The tractor that was purchased last year is too small for the agricultural program. It will need to be sold and the interested parties paid. The agricultural program needs a used four-wheel-drive tractor with a bucket in the fifty horse-power range. It should be shipped from the US; and with no import duties, the cost should be kept to a minimum.

Are you interested in a short-term commitment to the Dominican? We need painters, masons, plumbers, electricians, and carpenters. We need financial assistance to cover the renovation cost, worker costs, and food. And we need prayer, much prayer! God has a thousand ways to provide for our needs. Friend, please seek the Lord. If He leads you to put yourself on the line and take a leap of faith, do it! There is no greater joy than to be used of God.

Thank you once again for your faithful support. Please continue to pray for the Dominican Republic. ■

One of God's Thousand Solutions

By Beverly Christensen, Eden Valley Lifestyle Receptionist

In September, Florentina attended the Eden Valley Lifestyle program. Our staff and guests were blessed by her testimony. All praise to God! Often we are privileged to see God intervening in the lives of our guests. He is the healer of mind, body, and soul.

This story started nine years ago in New York. Florentina Sarcota was diagnosed with kidney cancer. Her doctor prescribed surgery to remove the kidney, followed by chemo and radiation. For the next eight years, new tumors would grow in the bladder; and each year she had surgery to remove them.

Florentina moved to Georgia to be with her son. After making an annual appointment with her urologist, she was told she would need yet another surgery. He also said that if the tumors returned in the same place they would need to remove her bladder. Two weeks later, she started bleeding. Florentina, very distraught, pleaded with the God of heaven to help her condition; she didn't want to live without a bladder. She called to schedule another appointment with the urologist. He was on vacation, so the family began to look for other options.

Daniel, her son, having heard about

Eden Valley from a friend, asked Florentina if she wanted to attend the program. While they prayed as to what God would have them do, the phone rang. The voice on the other end said, "This is Dr. So and So from the urologist office. On reviewing your case, I would like to suggest that you go to Eden Valley; there they have an alternative cancer program." They knew God was answering their prayers. In His tender mercy, the bleeding stopped.

When the urologist returned from vacation, Florentina and her family went for an office appointment. They told him they were going to take Dr. So and So's advice and send Florentina to Eden valley for treatment. The urologist was puzzled and asked, "Who called you? We don't have any one on staff by that name." They assured him that Dr. So and So did indeed call them from the clinic. The doctor got up and grabbed a staff directory and said, "There is no one employed here by that name!" Everyone looked at each other in wonder with the question—who was Dr. So and So?

Ah, friend, what do you think? We know for certain, God leads in mysterious ways. In fact, He has more than a thousand ways to provide for His children. Why wait to see what God will do for you?

Today, Florentina just returned from an appointment with her urologist. There aren't any tumors in her bladder—and she has lost another seven pounds. ■

What a Glorious Day That Will Be!

By Laural Bates

Convention 2012 came and went leaving many blessings in its train. Over three hundred people attended services on Sabbath. The church seemed to burst at the seams with friends and family—each filled with memories too numerous to recount. Eden Valley’s past was painted like the colors in a kaleidoscope, continually changing, but staying unified in purpose. Many people have come and gone, foreign missions and campus industries have changed; and yet, God has protected His Name in its existence. The present is still united with the past; and the vision remains the same—using the health message as an opening wedge to reach the world for Jesus.

Shawn Boonstra’s messages were exceptional. He shared foundational promises to his own ministry. One of his favorites is Eccl 3:11. God has put eternity in the human heart. What does that mean to Shawn? It means that there aren’t any true atheists in this world. It means you can go into any community knowing it is “winnable”. Another one of his favorite scriptures is Isa 54:2 and onward. God asks us to “Enlarge the place of our tent.

Spare not, lengthen our cords, strengthen our stakes, . . .”. Why? Because there are people out there who will respond. Shawn said, “God dares us to think bigger, be more daring, reach out more, and believe in the numberless multitude that will be saved. God will never let us down.

On Sabbath, Shawn reviewed the story of John the Baptist. Reminding us that John the Baptist began to doubt the very message that made him cry, “Repent and be baptized, for the kingdom of God is at hand.” Jesus is speaking to the multitudes and John’s disciples show up asking a simple question, “Are you really the one, are you the Messiah?” John is confused because he was in prison. Shouldn’t he be preaching with Jesus? Was it not now that the kingdom of heaven was at hand?

Shawn Boonstra

The evidence of his senses questioned the truth he once boldly believed in. Could he be wrong? Is it possible that during a time of darkness that we, too, would question the truth we now hold so dear?

Steve Grabiner and Frank Fournier presented the morning devotionals. The early riser has always received the morning manna, and this year was no exception. Both Frank and Steve are devotional-minded leaders.

How Unquenchable is Your Thirst?

By Matt Dooley

Have you ever been real thirsty? I'm not talking about your average thirst. What I'm talking about is an unquenchable thirst—a thirst that you are willing to do anything to satisfy. I have. I was camping with a friend and the closest convenience store was hours away. I was desperate. Every fiber of my being cried for water.

Jesus thirsted. Yes, He thirsted for physical water, but His unquenchable thirst was for you and me. He longed to offer men and women the gift of salvation even more than the pains of hunger or thirst.

Are you thirsty? Is your thirst driven by the desire to share the gospel with those around you?

John 4:7 tells us as Jesus sat by the well in Sychar, "There came a woman of Samaria to draw water." This woman came with a physical need. When she left, her need was met and she was filled with "The Water of Life". Jesus reveals in this encounter a beautiful method of evangelism.

First, He saw the woman was there because she had a need. She was looking for relief, physical relief. When we seek to relieve the practical needs of individuals, their hearts become open to the gospel. We are told when we "relieve the physical necessities of your fellow men, their gratitude will break down the barrier, and enable us to reach their hearts." 9T 127.

Secondly, He inspired hope in eternal life. He said, "If you knew the gift of God. . . you would have asked of him, and He would have given you living water." This water Jesus gives is a "well of water springing up into everlasting life." This well is symbolic of medical missionary work. Sitting before Jesus is a woman living in sin. She knew her condition. Jesus knew her condition. Instead of condemning her, Jesus instilled in her hope—hope that eternal life was within her reach. Today, the same opportunity presents itself to us. People are saturated with sin, in great need, and seeking only a temporal solution. What do you and I have to offer?

Thirdly, He made it clear that in Him there is power. Jesus said in vs. 13, "who ever drinks of this water will never thirst again." When an individual continues to drink from the life-giving stream, they experience the life-giving power of Christ. The old cisterns of the world no longer satisfy their thirst. They no longer desire to return to their old way of life.

Are you thirsty? Friend, come to THE WELL at Eden Valley Institute in Loveland, Colorado. THE WELL is a missionary training program designed to teach Christ's methods in evangelism. You will learn ways to relieve the needs of suffering humanity, instill hope of eternal life, and point them to the Source of all power. Your joy will multiply and the parched desire to reach others will be satisfied. Don't let the cares of this life hold you back. Come, quench your thirst.

feet of the main feeder. He multiplied that by three; and that cable covered 1,200 feet, because we installed 3 single conductors instead of just one as was first thought.

In just ten days all four hydro generators were operating, charging the batteries, and supplying power to every building on campus. With the electricity also comes hot water, a previous luxury.

In 2 Samuel 22:33, we read, "God is my strength and power: and He makes my way perfect." The team did not come with a perfect plan; but as they prayed and were open to the Holy Spirit, they discovered His perfect plan. God richly blessed their efforts, solved each challenge, and His power is shining even brighter at the Eden Valley Foster Care Mission in Tanzania. ■ years of Eden Valley. Starting in 1960 through our current administration, they shared the high lights of each passing decade. God is good and continues to bestow His blessing on Eden Valley. But, a more glorious day is coming! And soon.

We are seeking staff to assist in the general operation and maintenance of the mission school. Persons must be skilled and willing to work in a non-English speaking environment. If interested please contact Janet Fournier at her email address: janet4nier@gmail.com

Tarahumara Indians in Creel, Mexico

That God will open the hearts of the Tarahumara Indians in this time of escalated crime and violence. Funds are still needed to build a church building among the Nacarara people.

Stone Valley Foundation, India

Since 2000, the Lord has used Roger and Barbara Stone to raise scores of churches in India. They have trained hundreds of pastors, and minister to a great number of orphans with medical care, a home, and educational advantages. Currently raising funds to build new orphanage to cut rental costs.

Country Life Mission, Dominican Republic

A tractor for the agricultural program, persons interested in coming to help re-establish the school, funds for building material and worker sustenance.

Springs of Life Foundation, Poland

God has opened the doors we have been praying for; Poland, NEWSTART has occupancy of the new building. This facility still needs $3,500 for kitchen equipment and $8000 to make a marketing video and develop a new website.

Mount Akagi Institute, Japan

Today several individuals have joined hands to revitalize Mount Akagi's ministry. The property needs many repairs and a couple of good industries. The team would like to invest in a greenhouse built to US specifications. They would also like to purchase a "grain air-puff" machine that will help generate business in the bakery.
